KARINE ROCHE

Born in 1977, Manosque, France. Lives and works in UAE

Karine Roche's works are sensitive surface, a mix of classicism and modernity, precision and spontaneity, excitement and stillness. The materials are part of work. Her paintings are made of blends of fabrics and canvases mounted on wood frames more or less square.

CHROMATIC LANDSCAPE

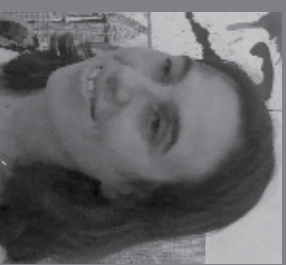

Karine's Born in 1977, Manosque, France. Lives and works in UAE

The choice of a specific theme, the nature and the city, allow us to forget about the subjects in order to focus only on the painting itself. City and architecture are both the natural environment, there is no opposition, no contradiction...

City lines and those of the vegetal world are multiples. Their combinations are infinities. Labyrinthine landscapes and urban structures are representing a globalised city.

Before being a final image, the canvases is an abstract thought where forms are only lines, materials and colors. Doors and windows are white squares on a blue background and the canvases does not express a clear idea but more of an impression: The city, cities, noise, people behind the colors, flows and networks, accumulation of activities that is giving stun sensations as being in a jungle.

Lines are crossing to end up lost in a ghost horizon. Perspectives lines are false and buildings incomplete, the city is an expanding universe going beyond the Framework. The technique used is oil painting. Colored marouflé fabrics on some paintings are memories of places and people, either found or purchased on markets here and abroad. They intervene on the matter, pucker, creating lines and shapes on the canvases between hazard and constraint. By a reserve effect, colors and prints of fabrics are becoming splashes of color as well as those being done with the brush. There is photography on other paintings. The inclusion of photography leads to another representation of the reality. The photos are the starting point and framework of the painted image, being at the same time a reference and a memory of another place. Karine goes inside her personal landscape between mental and sensitive, emotional and evocative. She seeks herself through her representation.
